

Mobile Applications You Might Need!

DB Navigator

Deutsche Bahn is a German railway company and it is one of the largest transport companies in the world. When you travel all around Germany, DB is a great option! Also you will be able to use DB trains free (except ICE, IC trains) within the North-Rhine Westphalia area.

This app might be very useful for you! After choosing a starting point and a destination you will receive itinerary information (platform number, train number, departure time, possible delays). It also shows the buses and trams around your city.

MyUDE tiny

You can access your semester ticket with this app and you can use it for borrowing books from the library.

VRR App

VRR is the public transport association covering the area of the Rhine-Ruhr conurbation in Germany. The VRR area consists of Essen, Mülheim, Bochum, Dortmund, Duisburg, Oberhausen, Düsseldorf, Mönchengladbach, Solingen, Wuppertal etc. If you want to travel within these cities you can either use the DB Navigator or VRR app.

Next Bike

After downloading this app and completing the registration you can easily rent a bike! You will be able to see the bike stations and rent a bike by scanning the QR Code with this app. The bike stations are called "metropolradruhr" and can be easily spotted due to their orange color. One hour is free for all students!
